

Golden Trout Project

The Golden Trout project is a collaborative effort to protect and restore the California Golden Trout. It is organized by the California Department of Fish and Game (CDFG) and the U.S. Forest Service (USFS) with assistance from Trout Unlimited (TU), California Trout (CalTrout) and the Federation of Flyfishers (FFF).

Every summer and fall there are a variety of opportunities for volunteers to participate in the restoration and monitoring activities that will take place in Inyo and Sequoia National Forests and Sequoia-Kings Canyon National Parks in the southern Sierra.

Golden Trout Project Volunteer Opportunities

You can see a list of volunteer opportunities, and register to participate on-line for all of the trips at: www.californiagoldentrout.org. Thanks for your interest in helping California's state fish and we hope to hear from you soon!

Howard E. Kern
Volunteer Project Coordinator
California Golden Trout Restoration Project
www.californiagoldentrout.org
(805) 405-9635 Cell